

Garden Planting in Haiti

June 8th to the 11th

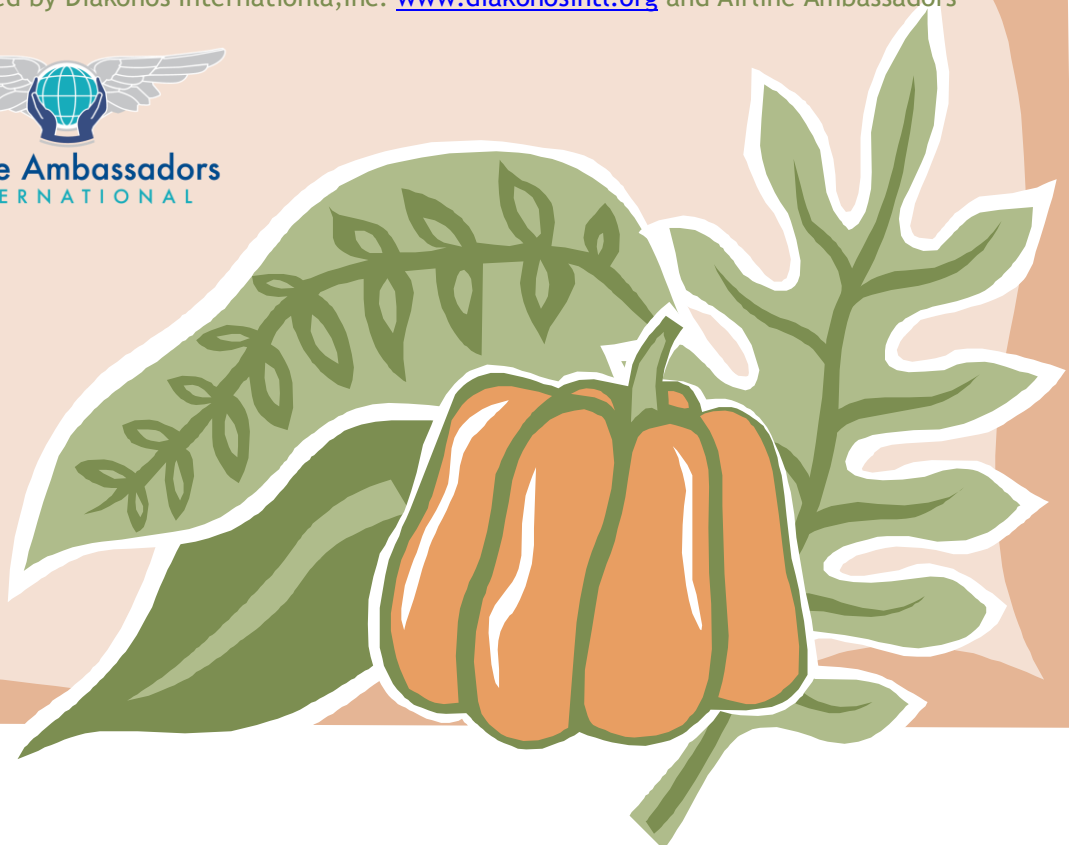

Kominote Ti Fanmi Nou de Diakonos orphanage
Mon Repos 40, Rue Mathon #69

A three day mission trip to Haiti to teach orphaned and vulnerable children skills to produce food to help supplement and balance their diet, and to help raise awareness about the need for international support to teach orphanages how to produce food and earn income from agriculture.

Sponsored by Diakonos International, Inc. www.diakonosintl.org and Airline Ambassadors

Diakonos International and its partners seek to develop and promote an intervention to break the high dependence burden on NGOs to supply small grassroots orphanages such as our Small Community of Family in Haiti with food to feed the children that they are caring for. We want to contribute to the restoration of the system of small farms that was once the pillar of Haitian society after its independence by planting fruits and vegetable gardens in the orphanages and start a small-scale family farm in the Fonds-des-Nègres area to achieve sustainable food security and jumpstart Kominoté Ti Fanmi Nou de Diakonos along with other participating grassroots orphanages on a path toward self-reliance.

"Poor people in poor countries are not asking for a handout. What they want is a hand up. Indeed, the poor are enormous, untapped reservoirs of initiative and entrepreneurship, but their energies are often held in check by poverty, misrule or conflict. They would be the first to say that trade, not aid, is the path out of poverty." United Nations Secretary-General, Kofi Annan.

We ask that each participant bring:

- $100 cash for donation to construct a small chicken coop of 50 chickens and purchase 3 months supply of feedings
- One set of set of twin bedding for Kominoté Ti Fanmi Nou de Diakonos
- Games
- Children's Clothing
- Toys
- Hygiene Supplies or gifts for staff at Kominoté Ti Fanmi Nou de Diakonos

Besides the $100 and sheets, you will just need to pay for your own expenses.... A hotel for two nights (plan on $130 and for your food) (about $50)
